2023 County Health Rankings & Roadmaps Report Released for Tuscarawas County

DOVER—On March 29, 2023, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute released the annual County Health Rankings & Roadmaps Report which provides relevant data to assist communities in making educated decisions and developing evidence-based programming to improve the community's overall health. For nearly every county in America, the Rankings measure vital health factors such as obesity rates, smoking, unemployment, air and water quality, teen births, income inequality, and etc. Out of Ohio's 88 counties, Tuscarawas County ranked in the higher middle range for health outcomes and lower middle range for health factors.

In the 2023 report, Tuscarawas County ranked 30 out of 88 Ohio counties in the category of health outcomes, which measures how long people live and how healthy people feel. This is an improvement from 2022 but the second worst health outcomes ranking for Tuscarawas County in the last five years. Tuscarawas County ranked 46 out of 88 Ohio counties in the category of health factors, which includes information on health behaviors, clinical care, social and economic factors, and physical environment which drive how well we live. The ranking of 46 is a decrease of 4 spots for Tuscarawas County from 2022.

Tuscarawas County's highest rank was for length of life with a ranking of 29 out of 88 Ohio counties. Tuscarawas County's lowest rank was for clinical care with a ranking of 79 out of 88 Ohio counties. This low ranking is a direct result of having an inadequate number of primary care physicians, dentists, and mental health providers to meet the needs of county residents. This ranking remains unchanged. Additionally, 11% of Tuscarawas County residents remained uninsured.

"Overall, thanks to the coordinated efforts of many agencies and organizations, the 2023 County Health Rankings Report demonstrates that the health and wellbeing of Tuscarawas County residents is continuing to improve," explained Katie Seward, MPH, CHES, Tuscarawas County Health Commissioner. "The report also reveals that there is still much work to be accomplished. Progress towards better health and positive lifestyle change takes time, and we at the Tuscarawas County Health Department are committed to continuing to work with our partners and collaborative coalitions such as Healthy Tusc to drive future improvements."
